Strictly Fresh Product Now Costing Consumer 80 Cents a Dozen.

NO END OF SHORTAGE SEEN

Big Profits Made by Farsighted Dealers Who Contracted in Advance.

Market prices on all fresh eggs were advanced 3 cents a dozen yesterday, mak ing the best grade of Western fresh eggs 45 cents and white Leghorn eggs 63 cents No such prices have ever been known be fore in New York. They are forcing consumers to pay as high as 80 cents a dozen for the choicest grade of eggs. Never has the egg market seen such a scramble to grab up incoming shipments as characterized it yesterday. It was almost impossible to fill the demand. One big chain of stores which usually has large quantities of eggs ahead was compelled to shop all over town to get fresh eggs enough to fill its demands. Men familiar with the market say, that whenever a chain store pays 42 to 45 cents for fresh eggs it is an indication that the scarcity is extreme. Big profits were made by some far sighted local dealers. Realizing last week that prices would be high a number of the venturesome ones bought eggs to arrive last Saturday and the balance of this week at an average price of 34 cents a dozen. At least ten cars under these conditions sold at from 40 to 45 cents, or an average of 42½ cents a dozen. With 400 cases to the car, at 8½ cents a dozen profit, it made an average profit of over $1,000 a car. In addition to the profits on fresh eggs a number of cars of cold stor. fresh eggs a number of cars of cold stor age eggs sold yesterday at 30 cents a dozen which cost 22 cents a dozen, making a profit of 8 cents a dozen, or $960 a of excitement known for years. Nothing like it has been known except on two oc-casions when heavy storms cut off re-ceipts and left the market eggless.

$200,000 Profit on One Deal.

Austin Nichols & Co., the big wholesale grocers, it is reported recently bought 150,000 cases of eggs at an average cost of 25 cents a dozen, which means an out-lay of $1,125,600. Not one of these eggs, it is said, have been sold for less than 27 cents a dozen, and fully 190,000 are still held, which are worth to-day 5 cents a dozen more than when bought, showing $150,000 pront on the 100,000 cases still in hand. Adding another profit of $50,000 on the other 50,000 cases, makes a total profit of $200,000 on the one deal. These figures are at wholesale, and if some portions of the eggs were distributed to the grocery trade the profits were even

Last April two brokers in Chicago bought up 64,000 cases of eggs at an average cost of $5.10 a case. These brokers have persistently refused to selat the remarkable profits shown for a month and say they will get 30 cents a dozen or $9 a case. If they do, it means a profit of $224,000. Ten years ago one of these operators was an egg candler drawing $18 a week. Egg men say this man will not make less than $100,000. man will not make less than $100,000 as

In all the excitement over fresh eggs yesterday the prices on cold storage eggs were not advanced, although some sales were made 12c, a dozen higher than quotations. A considerable quantity were sold at 30c., which is the highest price ever known for storage eggs in Novem-ber. Grocers and retailers are compelled, by a State law, to sell storage eggs for what they are, and the law, it is said, is

A number of very interesting situations came to light in the great demand for fresh eggs. One dealer who had bought a car of fine eggs to arrive at 35c, was called on the telephone as they were being unloaded. When he said he would guarantee the eggs they were ordered without regard to price. Later when the price was asked he gave the market quotation, which was 42c. He therefore made a profit of 7c. a dozen or $$10 a car, without unloading the eggs.

Postmaster Morgan said last night that he had not received the order referred to in the Washington despatch above, but that such a plan has been considered and he has no doubt of its correctness.

nessee, Kentucky, Missouri and Oklahome, has cut off the supply of pullets' eggs which are always depended upon at this season of the year. Dealers do not know where they will get enough fresh eggs to supply the demand. Their one hope is that the high prices will curtail con-

This curtailed the consumption, although the consumer had eaten the same kind of eggs for fifteen years without knowing the difference. The extraordinarily high prices for strictly fresh eggs, it is said, is breaking down this prejudice and now the storage eggs are being bought for ordinary consumption.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed against the Karps in 1911, giving their liabilities at $23,000. Just before this their branch store at Atlantic City was broken into and stripped by burglars, according to Jacob Karp. The clerks, however, testified that Jacob was his own burglar.

At the same time Samuel Karp was on the road getting rid of the firm's stock by quick auction sales. To account for the policemen said if they got any more jobs like that they'd resign.
